This Form is educational only, does not constitute legal advice, and covers only federal, not state, law (August 14, 2002).

In order for Dr. Arnhart's office to file a claim to your insurance company, please the following guidelines carefully:

In an effort to address our patients' insurance concerns, we've put together the following guidelines based on questions we have been asked most frequently in the past. If you require additional information please ask a staff member for assistance:

Know Your Insurance Coverage:

This is the single most important thing you can do to ensure your visit is covered by your insurance company. Knowing your co-pays, primary care provider, whether or not your deductible has been met for the year, what your material allowables are, and if Dr. Arnhart is a contracted network provider for your insurance company are just a few of these critical items. Please understand that it is impossible for us to know exactly what your benefits are.

Once Dr. Arnhart's office submits a claim for me, what happens next?

If all goes well we receive a payment from your insurance company in 30-60 days. However, if your claim hasn't been paid in 60 days, our billing department may contact you for help in solving the problem by sending a statement showing balance on unpaid claims.

If my insurance company doesn't pay my claim in 60 days, how can I help?

You can help Dr. Arnhart's office by calling your insurance company and asking why your bill hasn't been paid. Claims representatives document every inquiry received and they don't like hearing from unhappy subscribers. We will have already called them and or submitted duplicate claims; therefore they should be aware of the problem. Hearing from you forces them to review the claim yet another time.

If my insurance company refuses to pay because I forgot to tell them I was being seen at Dr. Arnhart's office or my policy has changed in some way thus limiting the services I'm entitled to, is it my responsibility to pay the bill?

Yes. We ask that you settle your account with us, but also advise you to continue to pursue the payment from your insurance company. Our experience has been that insurance companies will pay your bills if you can prove they promised you benefits you did not receive.

Why wouldn't my insurance cover my care in full? I pay a premium each month that should cover any services I might receive.

If insurance is rejecting your claim it could be, but is not limited to: is a deductible that needs to be met, incorrect patient information (i.e. social security no., ID number) or the procedure may not be covered under your policy. We obtain your information from you and the insurance card that you present at the time of your visit. It is imperative that you have a current card and that all information is verified at the time of check in.

Our commitment is to your dental health care, not your insurance company's bottom line. We need your support in this partnership. Together, we will be successful in providing you top quality dental care to meet all your dental health needs.
